Points in Futures and Spots Were Unchanged.

Office of The Post, Houston, Friday, August 25. The cotton market today was a tame affair when compared with the wild and exciting sessions during the early part of the week. While trading was fairly active and considerable tuying was indulged in, there was a lack of the mad rush to cover by shorts, or to dump holdings by longs, that characterized the parkets of Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Low erdinary.

crop in the old States, which, with exceptional localities, is very good and promises a yield as good as last year, despite the small amount of fertilizers used. They say, further, that spinners will never follow and advance in cotton, except to buy from hand to mouth, and the weight of spots will sooner or later cause prices to decline. The continued dry weather, in this State will undoubtedly bring a very leavy movement during September, and lower prices may result, but we believe Texas, the reprices may result, but we believe Texas, the reprices may result, but we believe Texas, the spin of producing a group of over 1,000,000 to the mithatton, has a very small chance of producing a group of over 1,000,000 to the market will seek its proper level. (Special to The Post.) Orleans, August 25.-W. H. Bacheller & Co., Ltd., say of cotton;

New Orleans, August 25.—W. H. Bacheller & Co., Lid., say of cotton:

Liverbool continues to ignore the slarming renorts from the growing crop, as again demonstrated by the course of that market today, with futures off 1-5th and anots 1-bth. Trading at the opening of the local market was requiated more by weather renorts than any other cause with ntiess unchanged. On Liverboot recovering nart of the early loss our market reacted some 5 noints, only to sell off again some 8 noints finally closing a few points better than the lowest touched.

Texas renorts cordinue of a very sectious nature, and even allowing for exagrarations. Texas conditions have undoubtedly de lined rather than improved during the past three weeks. The senson is five days early and with picking so far gdvanced a large portion of the crop must be already made. Towards the close it was learned that heavy rains had fallen in Oklahoms, with evidence of progressing into the extent Stales, which caused considerable selling of long cotton, though failed to maintain the lower levels until close. (Special to The Post.)

New York, August 25,-The Commercial and Financial Chronicle's crop report:

Our telegraphic advices this evening from Our telegraphic advices this evening from the South indicate that the weather has been less favorable the bast week. Dry weather has brevailed in the Southwest and damage from shedding is claimed. There has been rais in many sections of the Gulf and Atlande States, but at some places the precipitation has been insufficient. Picking is under way generally and in a number of districts is progressing rapidly.

The Tone of Stocks for the Week Has Been Strong.

York August 25.—Bradstreet's finan ial review tomerrow will say: Although restricted as to the character of the speculation, there were some indications We will give for Cotton put up in the that public interest in the stock market is growing. The tone this week has been on the whole a strong one. The market was restricted with a tendency to drift back from time to time into auliness. But the more in the most active and nopular of the tran cident temporarily interrupted the upward progress of prices, though it was resumed CANDY—click, wrapped, basis 24, 61-615% compared to the same vigor after COPPEE—Rio, fair 71-618c, prime 81-615 control of the same of the with an approach to the same vigor after

Ing week the principal builded manifestations were in the lower mediam of red stocks. A number of these were again the objects of enterent pool manipulation, which attracted both bubble and professional buyers.

There were however indications of interest in the higher priced dividend payers, based on suggestions that the presum remarkable carnings of certain properties might bus if larger divisions of profit among the shar holders. There were, however, no remarkable movements in this portion of the snare list and apart from the rises of the Tobacco stocks. Leather, Cutton Oil and Tennesses Coal, the industrials were neglected the only other exception being a decide in American Steel and Wire.

Loudon was at first indifferent to our stocks or betraved its prescentation with the state London was at first indifferent to our stocks or betraved its preoccupation with the state of its money market and the danger, financial and speculative, connected with the possibility of war in South Africa; the crop cutlook as well as the nativity of trains and industry, continues to give confidence to the builtsh speculators, while the relatively easier condition of the money market terms to diminish the apprehension displayed for some works back in that connection.
